

Achieve universal access to sexual and reproductive health, realize reproductive rights, and reduce maternal mortality to accelerate progress on the ICPD agenda, to improve the lives of women, adolescents and youth

Every woman and every adolescent and youth everywhere, including those furthest behind, fully exercise their reproductive rights and are able to use integrated sexual and reproductive health (SRH) services, which include family planning, comprehensive maternal health and STIs and HIV services, free of coercion, discrimination and violence

- Advocacy
- Identify vulnerable groups and underserved populations
  - Lift legal and policy barriers impeding access to SRH services (e.g. risk pooling and prepayment schemes benefit package for adolescents)
  - Foster national ownership and domestic investments in SRH, including for emergency preparedness and humanitarian response
  - Improve participation of civil society especially women, adolescents and youth, in developing, monitoring, and reviewing national health plans

- Capacity
- Develop national policies and programmes that specifically reach identified vulnerable groups and underserved populations
  - Improve the quality of the provision of integrated SRH services by using evidence-based technical guidance and tools at national and sub-national levels
  - Improve the management of health workforce, including their deployment, and benefit packages
  - Strengthen capacities of health workers, especially midwives (through pre-service education and in-service mentorship), to provide quality integrated SRH services, including on the Minimum Initial Service Package (MISP) in humanitarian settings
  - Improve the forecasting of SRH commodities at national and sub-national levels
  - Strengthen supply chains at national and sub-national levels, especially for reaching the last mile

- Knowledge
- Scale up innovative approaches and good practices for improving the quality and integration of SRH services, including the use of technologies (e.g. mHealth, GIS)

- Service delivery
- Integrate the provision of SRH services (particularly family planning, comprehensive maternal health, HIV and STIs services)
  - Strengthen supply chains at national and sub-national levels, especially for reaching the last mile

- Partnership and coordination
- Improve participation of civil society especially women, adolescents and youth, in developing, monitoring, and reviewing national health plans
  - Partner with those stakeholders that lead the areas mentioned under the critical assumption and monitor the effectiveness of multisectoral approach
