Challenges – accessing health care

UNFPA found that...

1. The one-size-fits-all approach in strengthening health systems to improve the utilization of sexual and reproductive health services does not work
2. Reaching the “last mile” to serve furthest-behind populations requires infrastructure investments, such as road construction
3. Sexual and reproductive health interventions for young people are more effective when combined with livelihood programmes
4. Sexuality education – in or out of schools – does not increase sexual activity or sexual risk-taking behaviour
5. Cross-border initiatives are critical to eliminating harmful practices
6. The application of geographic information systems improves census quality and coverage

UNFPA continues to achieve the results set forth in its strategic plan.

Thank you!
